WHAT IS WORKHOUSES.ORG?
Workhouses.org is a website devoted to all things pertaining to the workhouse. It focuses on workhouses and poor laws in the British Isles, with an emphasis on England, but also has some information on workhouses in other places. This site was created by Peter Higginbotham. General things you may find on Workhouses.org are

- Poor law history
- Individual workhouse histories
- Life inside the workhouse
- Links to record repositories

On the left you will find a menu or table of contents for the site. Here is a brief overview of what you can find under each.

---

Introduction
An introduction to workhouses. Includes history and overview of how the poor were taken care of over time.

Poor Laws
More information on poor law history in England, full text of poor law acts. Learn about poor law unions. Also, information on poor law in Wales, Scotland, and Ireland.

Workhouse Locations
Find detailed history on individual workhouses and records pertaining to those workhouses. Organized by country, county, then poor law union or use the poor law union/workhouse location maps. Note: https://www.familysearch.org/mapp/ is a useful site if you know the parish, but not the poor law union.

Find the addresses of the workhouse under “Workhouse Locations” > “Workhouse Addresses” to see if an address listed on a birth or death certificate was a workhouse.
