GARDINER PROCESS.

The Salt Lake friends of Robert Gardiner will be pleased to learn that his process for leaching copper is to be applied on a large scale at Hecla, Wyoming. The Denver Post says that Henry Schwartz of Denver has purchased 11 claims with a 15 stamp mill and a smelter in the Silver Crown district, which he has adapted for leaching the copper ores by the Gardiner process. The ores carry from 3 1-2 to 30 per cent copper, with considerable gold. Mr. Gardiner whose process is owned by the American Copper Mining and Extraction company, is said to have applied his treatment to the ores with very satisfactory results. A saving of 90 per cent copper has been made. After the ore has passed through the leaching solution, it is then treated on Cammet concentrating tables to save the gold. As soon as the tankage capacity is increased Mr. Schwartz says he will be able to handle 40 tons of ore per day.
