

Mother of 13 Nominated For Contest

OREM (Special)—Orem Women's Club's candidate for the state's "Mother of the Year" will be Mrs. Addie Edwards, club officials announced Monday.

All Federated Women's Clubs in the state will nominate a candidate for the title.

Mrs. Edwards is the wife of Philo T. Edwards, local church and civic worker who has served on Orem City Council and Alpine District School Board and as a counselor in the presidency of Sharon Stake, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Mrs. Edwards has reared 14 children, including 13 of her own and a niece. She has been active in Relief Society work in Timpanogos and Lincoln L D S Wards.

Two of her sons, La Vell and Lewis, have served as captains of the football team at Utah State Agricultural College in recent years.
