

A Tragic Accident!

- March 1883 , NB., Canada
- Daniel F. Johnson : Volume 58 Number 3622

Date March 2 1883

County Saint John

Place Saint John

Newspaper The Daily Telegraph

The language of the text is the original used in the newspaper entry and as transcribed by Daniel F. Johnson. Records acquired by the Provincial Archives are not translated from the language in which they originate.

Woodstock (Carleton Co.) Feb. 28 - A dreadful accident by which two lives were lost occurred at Robinson's crossing, about half a mile beyond Canterbury this eve. about 4 o'clock. William McNALLY, accompanied by his wife and daughter, Mrs. BROWN and son-in-law, Mr. BROWN, was driving in a double team from Canterbury, and in crossing the tracks the sled was struck by the express train coming to Woodstock. The old lady was thrown under the wheel and cut to pieces so that her body was scattered along the track. The young woman was so mangled that she died within ten minutes. Her husband was thrown clear and not much hurt. The old man was badly bruised but probably will recover. The young people had only been married a fortnight. (see original)