2. SIR CHARLES SCARBOROUGH (EDMUND) 12, HENRY 11, HENRY 10, JOHN 9, HENRY 8, JOHN 7, JOHN 6, NICHOLAS 5, SCARBOROUGH, ROBERT 3 DE SCARBOROUGH, HENRY 2, EDMUND SCARBOROUGH 1) was born December 1616 Middlesex, England. He married MARY DANIEL, daughter of THOMAS DANIEL. She was born Abt. 1615 in Newbury, County of Bedford, England.

Notes for SIR CHARLES SCARBOROUGH:

Physician to King Charles II, James II as well as William and Mary. Of brilliant mind, he is lastingly recognized for his influence on mathematics, on the Royal Society, and as the collector of a great library.

He was educated at St. Paul's School. Caius college where many of his forbears and relatives were educated and where he became a Fellow. He worked in mathematics with Seth Ward at Cambridge. He went then to Oxford and took up medicine. His principal interest was in the mathematical analysis of muscular motion of which he was the pioneer. He took his D.M. at Oxford in 1646 in w King's forces until 1648 when he was admitted to the Royal College of Physicians, began practice in London and was made a Fellow of the College in 1650. A memorial to him stands in the Church of St. I where he is also buried.
Sir Charles Scarborough, of London, England, born circa 1616, remained in England when his parents came to America, and held many positions of honor under the Crown; A.M. of Caius College in 1646; Fellow of King's College, Cambridge, 1645-1646; Court Physician to Charles II, James II, and William III; Member of Parliament, and knighted August 11, 1669. Samuel Pepys mentioned him many times in his chatty diary. He married M. Charles died February 26, 1694, and is buried at Cranford, Middlesex. His portrait hangs in Barber Surgeons Hall, in London. His only known children were: Charles Scarborough, Esquire, who was in the brother, the King of Denmark, on his accession to the Crown; and Rev. Edmund Scarborough, who was born in 1656, and died in 1705.² (Southern Kith & Kin, p. 16)

Children of Charles Scarborough and Mary Daniel are:

3. Lt. Colonel Edmund¹² Scarborough II (Edmund)¹², Henry¹², John⁶, John⁶, Nicholas⁵ Scarborough, Robert⁵ de Scarborough, Henry⁴, John⁵, Scarborough was born Sep 1671 in "Seaside", Accomac Co., Virginia. He married Mary Bet. 03 August 1640. She was born 1619 in England, and died Bet. 14 June - 15 December 1691 in Accomack Co., VA.

Notes for Lt. Colonel Edmund Scarborough II:

Col. Edmund Scarborough, the second son of Captain Edmund and Hannah Butler came to America with his father. He married Mary Littleton, [sic; see Mary] daughter of Col. Nathaniel Littleton, in England not come over with her husband, but arrived in 1640, brought over by her husband, Edmund Scarborough, of Accomac, according to Green.) He held the highest offices within the gift of the people, and the most spectacular. There are many traditions concerning him and his high handed actions in Colonial Virginia, some of which were of called unscrupulous. He was called "Conjurer" by the Indians, who, he whom he considered his special enemies.

The Scarboroughs were the largest land owners on the Eastern Shore, and with their powerful connections, exercised almost feudal powers in the Colony. Though there were many clashes with Colonial and Scarborough was able to avoid serious punishment because of the influence of his brother, Sir Charles Scarborough, Court Physician at the Court of St. James. When under fire in Virginia, he conveniently New England, where his ships were constantly in port. (Owneds a ship called Mayflower but not Pilgrim's Mayflower.) As Surveyor-General, Col. Scarborough fixed boundary lines that suited his conveniences order to include his home, which normally would lie in Northampton County, if the two counties were equally divided. He still owned land in Northampton, after the division of the two counties, and was t the Crown.

When Col. Edmund Scarborough surveyed and marked the boundary between Maryland and Virginia, Governor Calvert, of Maryland, was vigorous in his protest. A new survey was finally made, called th⁵ and recognized in 1668 as the boundary line.

Col. Edmund Scarborough was indeed a versatile man. He not only managed his large plantations, with his many slaves and servants, and had high official duties with his various Colonial offices, but he had the exclusive right to make salt, had one of the earliest shoe factories, and malt plants, and carried on an extensive shipping business. He was also an able lawyer, and a power in the Courts. Though an Bacon in his Rebellion, as his son, Col. Charles Scarborough, did, he left a few years longer; for he was an avowed enemy of Governor Berkeley, with whom he had many clashes. Col. Charles Scarborough, though his brother, Captain Edmund Scarborough, remained loyal to Governor Berkeley. After the death of Bacon, and the collapse of the rebellion, Col. Charles Scarborough escaped o death and his property confiscated, March 16, 1677. The decision of Col. Charles Scarborough was evidently forgiven, for in 1692 he was the Naval Officer and Collector for the Eastern Shore, under Gov Scarborough had held this office during his lifetime, and the son of Col. Charles, Henry Scarborough, succeeded his father in 1699.

This fiery Col. Edmund Scarborough, with all of his faults was a remarkable man of his day, for in spite of his unbridled violence, and will, his loyalty to Virginia and her institutions could not be question Burgess, 1642-1671; Speaker of the House of Burgesses, 1645; Justice of Northampton County; Sheriff in 1666; Surveyor General for Virginia, 1665-1671, and numerous offices in the Church. He died c where his home, called Hedrick Cottage, was standing a few years ago. The neck of land between Craddock Creek, and Oceano Creek was called Scarborough's Neck. [BOBHOPScar.ged]

Petition of David Fairvacks of London, Merchant, Edmund Scarborough of Virginia, Merchant, borrowed money from him which he promised to repay after his arrival in Virginia; he has now been there e but the petitioner has not been repaid.

He was baptized October 2, 1617 in St. Martins, London, England (008) He accompanied his parents to Virginia, while his elder brother Charles remained in England to complete his education. At the death settling his father's affairs in Virginia. On November 28, 1635 he patented 200 acres of land on Magothy Bay in Accomac County. "fifty acres for his late father, Captain Edmund Scarborough, fifty acres for his own personal venture, and fifty acres for the transportation of one servant called Robert Butler." This was the first of many land patents issued to Col. Edmund Scarborough; in subsequent years he acquired landholder on the Eastern shore of Virginia. Col. Edmund Scarborough was a vindictive Indian bairn, an intolerant persecuter of the Quaker settlers in the area, and a totally unscrupulous politician and shrewd lawyer, an accomplished surveyor and engineer, and a highly successful planter and merchant. He served a number of terms in the house of Burgesses (where for a time he was speaker), was sheriff of "Northampton Proton", and for many years was Surveyor-General of Virginia, in which capacity he surveyed the boundary between Virginia and Maryland on the Eastern Shore. He erected on his estates a number of ships with which he carried on an extensive trade with England, New England, the Netherlands and the West Indies. He was the first to import Negro Slaves of any number into Virginia. The Colonists associated. At one time (July 1653) his conduct was such that he was charged with treason and piracy and forced to flee the colony. In a little over a year, however, he was back in Virginia, and incredibly e more. From this time to the restoration (1660) he was on the best terms with Governor Bennett and the Parliamentary authorities - indeed, his eldest son Charles later married Governor Bennett's daughter E Scarborough's influence and power increased still more; and he consistently flouted the laws, refused to pay his debts, and bitterly disregarded the decisions of the courts and the mandates of Governor Wi the English court seems largely to account for the Colonel's immunity.

Subject: The Ships of Edmund Scarborough

I found the following reference on the GOTES site under "History of the E.S." then scroll down to "Tidbits about the E.S." as follows:

In 1652 Col. Scarborough planned to return to England for good. He sold the following ocean going ships to William Burton of Boston, Mass.:

1. The Deliverance
2. The Mayflower
3. King David
4. The Sea Horse
5. The Holly Horse
6. The Ann Clear
7. The Artillery

The reason this is of interest to me is that we have a reference stating that Daniel Isham (Isham) was brought to Northampton Co. from London in 1652 on the bark Mayflower a ship owned by Edmund Sc above addresses but has since vanished.

This find on Gotes is the first verification I have seen that Edmund Scarborough was a ship owner and did indeed own a bark named Mayflower. "Early Virginia Immigrants" by George Cable Greer sites Th usual fifty acres. Daniel wasindentured to Deman MacCloud and five years later received a cow called "Sweet Lips" for his servitude. This is proven by the will of MacCloud.

As to the question "is this the original Mayflower" the answer is No. The original Mayflower was declared unseaworthy and salvaged in London in the Late 1620's. This ship was referred to as a Bark. I have apparently many ships and boats of various kinds called the Mayflower, The May Flower and so on.
Just a note: A bark is a 3 to five masted "Tall" ship (bigger than a schooner.) In the 1800's they were used to transport bananas and other goods up the Chesapeake from the Caribbean to Baltimore. They are still around today...

At the end of my talk on Source Materials Wednesday, June 21st, I asked the question "What does this entry mean?"

Mackay, Dr. Howard and Hinkley, Marlene Alma Gouver, CG, Northampton County Virginia Record Book Volume 5, 1654-1655, (Rockport ME: Picton Press.) p 48.
[Transcription.]

"This day (in open Cort) Leift Collonll Edm: Scarburgh did produce an Accott of ye Estate of his Eldest sonn Charles Scarburgh wch said Accott is by ordr to bee Recorded (as in such cases is provided) in The question was why was this Estate ordered to recorded as in law for Orphans Estates? Who is the orphan?

There were three suppositions given:
1. He's the "orphan." The entry itself states that Edmund Scarburgh did produce the Account.
2. "He might be considered an orphan if his mother has died."
3. "This Charles had at least one orphan himself."

Col. Edmund Scarburgh is alive and so is a Mary his wife. For in the next entry she disposes that Randall Revel came up to Occahanocke to her husband's house.

This might have been the case except that Mary Scarburgh's will was proved 15 December 1691. An abstract reads: Mary Scarburgh, now resident at the House of Anthony West at Merry Branch. To grand son Charles Scarburgh. Daughter Tabitha Custis. Son Edmund Scarburgh. To grandson Edmund Scarburgh (under 12), the son of Edmund Scarburgh. To granddaughter Mary West. Granddaughter Tabitha Legatees & Ex'rs. Witt: James Martin, Tully Robinson, Richard Bally - Codicil revoking legacy to son Charles Scarburgh on account of neglect. Nottingham, Stratton, Wills and Administrations of Accomac 1990), p 20.

This leaves open the possibility that Edmund Scarburgh was married twice and his first wife is the mother of Charles. In December 1678 Charles gives his age as 35. Making his birth year about 1643. Mid: Eastern Shore, (Baltimore MD:

Genealogical Publishing Co., Inc. 1985), p 91. This scenario would also make Madam Tabitha Custis, daughter of Edmund Scarburgh the daughter of the unknown first wife, for in May 1693 Tabitha Custis: was 56 (circa 1639).

Did Mary mean "stepson Charles" and "stepdaughter Tabitha" etc.? [This would change genealogy.]

The third edition of "Adventurers of Purse and Person, Virginia 1607-1624/5, published by: Order of First Families of Virginia 1607-1624/5, 1987, on page 542 footnote 25 states "-------- An accounting re Charles which was ordered 28 August 1654 to be received as in such cases is provided for Law for Orphans Estates' might suggest that he was a [half] orphan, and thus that Edmund had two wives, both na

There is another entry in Northampton County recorded 14 April 1642 *--------- I Mathew Pett doe for me my heyers and Administrators Assignes make sale of and Confrme one Yearling heifer of a darke br and Tabitha Scarburgh theire heyers Excutors and assigns and doe by these presents acknowledge to have Received full satisfaction for the same. Witness my Hand this 20th of July Anno 1641." Ames, ? 1640:1645, (Charlottesville VA: The University Press of Virginia, 1973), p 153.

The question here is: would a father with his two year old daughter, buy a heifer or is this Tabitha his unknown first wife?

These questions now remain:
1. Did Charles Scarburgh have two sons by the name Charles, one who died before 1654 (born no later than 1634.) and left a least one orphan and the Charles who was born in 1643 and married Elizabeth 1 Scarburgh is noted by his baptism on 2 October 1617 [Was he an infant? At what age was a child baptized at this time?] as cited in Purse & Person. If Edmund was an infant at the time of his baptism it would make about 16 at the ti
2. If he was called the "Orphan" because his mother had died, who was she?
3. Did Edmund Scarburgh marry two Marys or is the Tabitha mentioned above his first wife.
4. Why did Mary Scarburgh list Tabitha and Charles as her children if they were stepchildren?

The Hannah Scarborough who married John Wise was a daughter of Captain Edmund and Hannah Butler. There were actually 2 Hannahs. One was born 13 January 1621/22 and died the following day. The other was born c. 1625. About her, J. D. Scarborough says:

"Hannah Scarborough, daughter of Captain Edmund and Hannah Butler Scarborough, third child of this couple, married Col. John Wise of Devonshire England, b. 1617, and died 1695, who settled the progenitors of the numerous Wise families of Accomac and the Eastern Shore. In regard to the question asked by Tasha Revell as follows:

<<My husband Ken, and our son Joshua are direct male descendants of a Randall Revell, born ca. 1608-1610 by his second wife Katherine Scarborough. I note that she is sometimes referred to as Katherine Potts. Any thoughts? Ken has written of the relationship in his new book, Redbugs, Moonshis "People who talk to God": In fact, please email this site to any Revell descendant who may wish to share info.

Response:

First, Katherine Scarborough and Katherine Pott are not one and the same persons. Katherine Scarborough was the daughter of Edmund Scarborough and Hannah Butler; Katherine Pott was sister to Mary, Bridgett The controversy that you question has continued for hundreds of years. The most recent arguments coming from an excellent historical study of Northampton and Accomac Counties-titled Virginia's East Whitlaw offers several pages of valuable information concerning Edmund Scarborough and within this information mentions that Edmund's wife was named Mary. He goes on to say that Mary was born in 16 have thought that she was a Mary Littleton, but that was never actually proven, and the present writer (Whitelaw) has a feeling that she may have been Mary Pott, a sister of Captain Francis Pott, who in his children. Bridgett is known to have married Dr. John Severne and Captain Stephen Charlton, but nothing definite was found about the others, and this writer (Whitelaw) has a theory that Katherine married account for the later intimate relations between the two men. Whitlaw goes on to say that "To account for these close relations, some have thought that Revell had married a sister of Scarborough, but no pro

So when you see the name Katherine Scarborough/Pott it is an acknowledgement that Katherine Revell's maiden name to them remains unproven. Since Whitlaw published his book several additional research Katherine's maiden name. The Scarborough family bible lists the marriage of Randall Revell to Katherine Scarborough circa 1660.

Randall Revell circa 1613-1685 married Rebecca Nichols circa 1636. Edward Revell their only child was born in 1638. Randall and Rebecca moved from Northampton County, Virginia to St. Mary's Cow patent and returned to Virginia where he eventually settled in Pungoteaque and established his estate. Rebecca died at Pungoteaque.

Randall began a romance with Katherine Scarborough and in late 1659 they married. Randall was one of three men offered a position as a land commissioner by Lord Cecil Calvert of Maryland to help settle had to reside within the Maryland province. Randall accepted and relocated to what has become Somerset County, Maryland.

When Randall relocated he gave all of his Pungoteaque land holdings to his only son, Edward Revell.

Rebecca Nichols also had a son John by a previous marriage. Many researchers have stated that Randall and Rebecca also had two additional sons named John and Richard. This misconception began the Richard Nevill, Randall's manservant to Maryland (Liber 1 Folio 65 and ABH Folio 79). Later when recording a land patent dated 27 Jul 1641 Randall gives 50 acres of land to Richard Nevill on 25 Aug 1 and Richard accompanied Randall back and forth across the Virginia and Maryland State line on several occasions. Randall returning to Northampton County in Virginia deeded some cattle to my son in 1 cattle and horses to his only son Edward. "It being moist evident that Captain Charles Scarburgh hath uttered divers scandalous and mutinous words tending to the dishonor of the right honourable the Governor; but the said Captain Scarburgh shall adjudge against him, the court have thought fit and do order that (he)...be fined or amerced forty pounds sterling...which the said Scarburgh willingly submits to."

Note: William Scarburgh was sentenced to death at the court on 18 March.

Background. The Assembly of 1685 was a stormy one. Jacobitism was in vogue in VA. James II, at first hailed by the colonists, soon made them angry with new taxes, his discouragement of factories, which would allow them to be more independent of goods from England, forced a large number of military prisoners into VA. And then there were the grants to Culpepper and Arlington which showed the King had little regard for the colonists. The Shore were upset.

A number of appointees of the King were suspected of being papists, and 2 new members of the VA Council were alleged to have been selected because of their Catholicism. "This led Colonel Char him and an aspirant to the office of Councillor, to exclaim in great anger in the presence of the Governor, Lord Howard, that his Majesty King James would wear out the Church of England, for that different persuasion." The indiscreet Scarburgh was at once arrested for such treasonable utterances, but not until he had voiced the sentiments of the colonists in general... He at once became the he Council that he had removed Scarburgh from his various offices for treason to the crown and he was forthwith ordered to appear for trial...The prosecution, however...was more or less of a farce, for th champion. Scarburgh was soon discharged and reinstated in his offices."
James II abdicated in 1688. "Now that Protestantism had conquered, Colonel Scarburgh was rewarded for his fearless and uncompromising resistance to the schemes of King James…and was appoin

1699, he was appointed by Gov. William Andros "collector by the honble Comrs of the Customs, Naval Officer and Receiver of the Virginia duties."

Tract A54: CHARLES SCARBURGH was the eldest son of COLONEL EDMOND and MARY SCARBURGH (A17), and from later depositions giving his age he must have been born in 1643. About CHARLES was in London for his education and did not take up residence on his home land, which he called Fairfield, until late in 1648, as nearly as can be determined from the records.

1654: William Whittington was made "Feoffee in trust and Guardian to the Estate of CHARLES the Eldest sonne of LEIFENTAN COLONEL EDMUND SCARBURGH." Among the assets at the Land;" nothing more was found recorded about Whittington as acting in that capacity and apparently the colonel soon took over full management of his son's affairs.

Just when the event took place was not determined, but CHARLES married ELIZABETH, the daughter of RICHARD BENNETT, who was governor of the colony during the Commonwealth admini

This sounds as if both WEST and SCARBURGH had been moral, if not active supporters of Nathaniel Bacon in the recent rebellion and were thus perhaps entitled to come in under the amnesty pro

Perhaps his quick tongue had again gotten him in trouble, but the nature of his words and the outcome are unknown.

"Whereas I MARY SCARBURGH have in this my above and within written will bequeathed to my son CHARLES SCARBURGH his obligation for money due thereon to me and for that he doeth in that Duty owing to me and incumbent on him to performe doe therefore for the Reason aforesaid disanul deney and holey obliterate in my said will all and everything or things gifts or other bequ Later, when his own end drew nigh, CHARLES must have taken this lesson to heart, as he said in his own will: "And for as much as I find by experience how undutiful Children are to their Mothers to make definite and ample provision for his wife. MADAME ELIZABETH SCARBURGH did not remarry and lived until 1719.

It is possible that at some time CHARLES had had some serious difference with his father, as the name EDMUND never appeared among any of his descendants. His 3,050 acre plantation comprised Neck; there is a vague and sacrificial tradition to account for the name, but it does not have enough substance to justify a recording of it. In the records it was spelled variously Sleuthkill, Slutgill, e today, although occasionally it is spoken of as Prospect Neck.

Children of CHARLES SCARBURGH and ELIZABETH BENNETT are:

In his will, written 10 Jan 1728, William Black left his whole estate to his wife Margaret, who was also named executrix. Witnesses were Harry Bagwell, Dalight Shield, William Nowell, William L. 1743, p. 7). Evidently his first wife, Sarah Scarburgh, had died and he had remarried.

Sarah was named in her father's will 6 Aug 1701 in Accomack Co, VA.(66544) She was evidently unmarried at the time, as she was just called daughter Sarah.

Sarah was named in her mother's will 2 Jan 1719 in Accomack Co, VA.(66544) She was called daughter Sarah Black.

This last weekend visiting the Tennessee Historical Museum in Knoxville I came across the attached information within Jewel Scarborough Davis’s Southern Kith and Kin (Vol. III). A copy of the reference pages concerns a reference to the family bible of a Mrs. S. P. Ward of Belle Haven, Virginia printed in England in 1725. The item attracting my attention records Col. Edmund Scarborough III’s, his wife as Elizabeth Edwards and his son Edmund Scarborough IV, whose second wife is shown, was Anna Maria Jones daughter of Rev. Rowland Jones of Bruton Parish and gr times, but had no Scarborough children.

As of this date I’m very interested in confirming Elizabeth Edwards as the wife of Col. Edmund Scarborough III.

My current information from Col. Edmund Scarborough III’s will uses the name Elizabeth but does not provide her family name.

Sincerely,
Geo. Scarborough

The Samuel Wise whom Susanna Upsher Custis married was born 1740 and died 1779. He was the son of Thomas Wise (1697-1764) and Mary Margaret. My problem seems to be whose daughter was Susanna Upsher Custis? Her dates are given as 1746-1800.

In spite of the coincidence of names, she really can't be the daughter of Col John Custis V (1701-1733) and Anne Upshur (1707-1732), daughter of Arthur. Thanks-

Subject: Watts

I'm not a Watts and only have them as collateral lines to the John & Sarah Keyser White family, so here goes

I show wife of William Watts as Comfort Scarburgh, probably only because Henry Scarburgh (d. 1745) was guardian to their son. I show John Watts got 375A Newport Panell through his wife, Priscilla White, who got it from her father. In 1724, John & Priscilla Watts left 300A to their son, William.

1772 a Thomas Johnson sold to a William Watts, agreement of common recovery
6/13/1772 William Watts and wife Sophia sold 100A Newport Panell to John Rackliffe
1/24/1789 William Watts and wife Sophia sold 129 1/2A to Thomas Purnell
1/24/1789 William Watts sold 120 1/2A to Edward Harmanson
1792 William Watts sold all claim to Newport Panell to Henry Franklin

William and Sophia, on this same date, also sold 10A Killgrass with Newport Pannell (don't know how William got this) 1805 a William Watts of Accomack sold part of Lanes Addition to Moses Pilchard which Watts had purchased in 1801 from Francis Lane. Watts in 1801 also bought from Francis & Nelly Lane Locust Ridge & Strand, which Watts also sold to Pilchard in 1805.

1701 Patent by John Watts of VA for 90A Wolfs Den
1714 John Watts willd to son John Watts
1743 William Watts willd to son John Watts
1755 resurveyed to Watts Cow Quarter - Pat. 1753 by John Watts for 744A a resurvey of Wolfs Den & Temple Island
1807 David Watts sold to Littleton Robins for docking
(Ruth T. Dryden, Worcester Land Records)

In Dryden's land abstracts, there's no mention of anyone being in NC or having someone else handle any transactions. Hope this helps.

Yes, I have a transcript of John Custis’ 1691 will.

My information on Col Henry Custis, his wife Tabitha Scarburgh (daughter of Edmund), his son Henry Custis and his wife Scarborough Parker comes from Whitelaw and the

In COL Henry’s will dated 1729, proved 6 Mar 1732, ALL his children are under 18. Son Henry might be 16?

In COL Henry’s will dated 1729, proved 6 Mar 1732, ALL his children are under 18. Son Henry might be 16?

If you use the information posted on Scarborough Parker, the daughter of William and niece of Major George is older than the above Henry Custis and sixty one at the time of his death and 61+ when she married Robert I improbable that this Scarborough Parker is the wife of Henry Custis.

Using the circa birth date supplied above and adding 25 a circa marriage date for Henry Custis it can be approx born circa 1720.

Whitelaw, p 721 puts forth a good case for Scarborough Custis being the daughter of Charles Parker by the later.

Subject: Search for William Watts
Dr. Bill,

I was happy to receive your response to my query about William Watts. The data you shared validated the sorting that I had done on the John and Dorothy (?) Watts family of VA. I have additional information and I sure you do also.

My sources were Nottingham's Wills and Administrations... Whitelaw's
Virginia's Eastern Shore, wills from MD, etc. The wills were abstracts, but I will get copies of them if I can establish a relationship between John/Dorothy Watts family and the Mississippi John and Judith (?) Watts family. The information I am including to pinpoint the William in whom I am interested follows.

1. Capt John [I] Watts and Priscilla White Layfield had an additional three children, one of whom was William [I].

2. William [I] Watts married Comfort (?) with whom he had three sons, or at least three sons were named as heirs in his will of 1743. The sons were named in the following order:
   i. John [II] who married Margaret (?) (possibly Scarburgh)
   ii. Charles
   iii. William [II].

3. Some south Mississippi Watts researchers claim that William [I] was the same William, whose relict was Agnes and who died in Anson County, NC in about 1773. John Watts, presumably William/Agnes' son, replaced Agnes as administrator of William's estate in 1774. I am skeptical that one can die twice 30 years apart. Medical science just was not that advanced during the 18th century.

4. These same researchers also state that the John Watts mentioned in #3 was the MS John Watts who married Judith (?). I have seen dates between 1745 and 1752 as MS John's birth date.

5. John [I] and Priscilla's grandson William [II], not to be confused with John and Rebecca (?) Watts' son William, might be this William Watts who married Agnes. It is a slim chance if
   a. William [I] was born about 1707
   b. he married Comfort (?) at about 20 years (1827)
   c. they had the three sons at yearly intervals + one year for pregnancy d. William [II] was the youngest son or middle son (Brother John was named William [I]'s heir at law in the order of probate of William [I]'s will, making John the oldest son.)

William [II] might conceivable be the father of the MS John Watts if MS John was born in 1752. It is stretching logic to the extreme if MS John was born in 1745—this may be naive statement considering what happened between the Seattle teacher and early teen.

6. I am trying to find out where and when William [II] died. It may have been Maryland, because he inherited land called New Port Pannell [sic] and located in Someret County, MD. Through abstracts of will in VA and MD, I have traced this parcel from John White to Priscilla White, to George Layfield, to John Watts, implicitly to William [I] Watts, and to William [II] Watts.

7. I am also trying to find out what William [II] did with the land he inherited in VA and MD. I know that a person might be an absentee owner then as now.

   I tried to write this message several different ways, and this way seemed clearer to me. It is difficult to write when so much is conditional. Anyway if anyone can help me, I really appreciate it.
