

Joseph (Joe) went to Bible College in Lexington, Kentucky, and received education to be a preacher. He went to the southwest, mostly Arizona and New Mexico. And there he met and married a school teacher by the name of Ina Adams. They did not have any children.

Jasper N. Brown's school was call the Level Green Academy, and as David R. Gentry was a teacher he attended the Academy, and Nora Brown was also a teacher and attended her father's school, and it was there that they had plenty of time to be together, but they did not marry until they were 24 years of age. After they had been married a few years and had their first child, Floyd Erick, they lived in Lexington, Kentucky, and David went to Bible College, and received education to be a Church of Christ preacher.

When David and Nora had 4 choldren, 2 boys and 2 girls, they went to McAlester, Oklahoma, and David continued to teach and to preach, and Nora continued to have babies. Ellen and Haskell were born ~~not~~ there.

~~One of~~ The main information that I want to point out in this writeup is that there continues to be school teachers in this family. Jasper N. Brown - Nora Brown-Gentry - Richan Gentry- Richard Lee Gentry - Carl Ree Gentry-Williams and David Robert (Bob) Gentry - son Dennis Gentry. Five generations is quite a record.

(Now let us insert a Gentry paragraph) of Gentry teachers)

David Richard Gentry - Nora Alice Gentry - Richard Hampton Gentry - Richard Lee Gentry daughter - Carol<sup>Ree</sup>/Gentry-Williams - also David Robert (Bobby) Gentry - and his son Dennis Gentry.)
