Exploring Census Records using Digitalarkivet (Digital Archives) of Norway

Liv H. Anderson CGsm, AG®

OBJECTIVES:

Patrons will be able to find a person in the following searchable census records for Norway:

- 1801
- 1865
- 1875 (not complete)
- 1885 (cities only)
- 1900
- 1910
- 1883 Kristiania (Oslo), 1905 Kristiania (Oslo), 1920 Hamar city, 1923 Kristiania (Oslo), 1925 Trondheim city, 1934 Strinda parish.

You may also be able to find a person in the following scanned census records for Norway.

- 1664-1666 (males only age from age 12)
- 1701 (males only from age 1 and older, not complete for the whole country)
- 1891

The censuses for Norway are a count and description of the population and have been taken by the government as well as by ecclesiastical officials. They were taken primarily for population studies and taxation purposes.

When you search a census record, take the following into consideration:
• A given name may not always be as complete as the name recorded in the church records.
• Spelling of a name may vary for names and places.
• If a family is not at the expected address, search the surrounding area.
• Information may have been provided by a neighbor or someone in the family who does not know the correct information.

Census records can provide family relationship, age, year of birth description of property, and place of birth. Census records are especially valuable because they list a large portion of the population. They may also provide information when all or portion of records are missing. Generally we find more complete information in the later census records.

Notice shortcuts to the Norwegian census records below from Digitalarkivet (Digital Archives) main page. Here we have chosen the 1664-1666 census.

1664-1666 Census

The 1664-1666 census was taken over two years, one clerical (taken by the parish priest) and one civil (taken by the civil authorities). When possible search both as they supplement each other. This census includes the value of the farm, head of household and all male children over the age of twelve, as well as share crofters (tenant farmers) and servants. Sometimes the recorder lists all male children, regardless of age. This census covers the rural areas of the country. In a case where the head of household is a woman (widow), she may be listed as a widow, but seldom by name or age. Usually she is referred to as enken (the widow). The content of the clerical and civil records are often the same, but sometimes one is more complete than the other, and it is wise to consult them both. For instance, the last name, patronymic name, may be listed in one but not in the other, and some the age of a person is only listed in only one of them. The clerical census is often the more complete of the two records. This census record is missing for a few places.

Census headings in Norwegian and English can be found in the FamilySearch wiki for several of the censuses. See link:

The 1701 census is similar to the 1664-1666 census and will list the name of the farm, name of the farmers, their ages, names and ages of their sons, and names and ages of their servants. However, this census will list all males from age one and older, and if a servant came from a different parish, it will also list the name of the parish he came from. Both the 1664-1666 and the 1701 are available online at the Digital Archives of Norway in a scanned format. See link: http://www.arkivverket.no/eng/content/view/full/6590

There are additional censuses that are available on microfilm at the History Library as well as online at Digitalarkivet (The Digital Archives of Norway), as well as the 1758 census for Rogaland county is available in book form at the Family History Library. See links: http://www.arkivverket.no/eng/content/view/full/14394 (1662-1825) and (1920-1934) http://digitalarkivet.arkivverket.no/en-gb/finn_kilde?s=&fra=&til=&kt%5B%5D=KFOT
Censuses are also available at the old version of Digitalarkivet. From the home page find “Old version of the Digital Archives”, then choose “Database Selector” in the top blue box, then choose “year” from sub-category and a list of the censuses for the years 1660s, 1701, 1780s, 1815, 1825, 1835, 1885, and 1891 can be searched. See link for the censuses available in 1782:

Complete census enumerations were taken between the years of 1815-1860. These were intended to be purely statistical, but in some cases the enumerator did record information about individuals or families as well. Some are available on microfilm at the Family History Library.

There is a census record for Gjerstad, Aust-Agder County for the year 1835. This census is a lot like the 1801 census, but in addition, lists the number of domestic animals and farm production. This census is available at the Family History Library on microfilm no. 1283363 item 4.

The 1865 census is available on microfilm at the Family History Library as well as online in a searchable database at Digitalarkivet of Norway. See link to the searchable census: http://digitalarkivet.arkivverket.no/en-gb/ft/sok/1865.

It is the earliest census in Norway that gives a place of birth for each person. This census was taken December 31$^{st}$ 1865. It lists the following information:

1. Farms or localities. Name/ Number
2. Residences
3. Household
4. Name of each person
5. Status or occupation
6. Marital status
7. Age
8. Place of birth
9. Religious affiliation
10. Retarded, deaf and dumb, blind. If retarded, note if this has been since birth.
11. Total population of each household
12. Livestock
13. Types of crop sowed in 1865
14. Remarks

The 1875 census is available on microfilm at the Family History Library. This census was taken December 31$^{st}$ 1875. It is also available in a searchable database at Digitalarkivet of Norway, see link: http://digitalarkivet.arkivverket.no/en-gb/ft/sok/1875.

This list online is not complete for the whole country. It gives the following information:

1. Households, list a [1] for each separate household then each person in each household
2. Number listing of each person (1,2,3 etc.)
3. Name of each person (will also list people who are temporarily visiting, who reside in the household)
4. Usual residence for those who are visiting
5. In which building on the farm each person resides
6. Sex (male/female)
7. Position in the family (head, wife, son, daughter, parent, servant, lodger, visitor, etc.).
8. Persons age 15 and older if single, married, widower, widow, divorced.
9. Persons age 15 and older, occupation or from whom they receive support.
10. Year of birth.
11. Place of birth.
13. Religion, if not a member of the state church (Lutheran Church).
15. If a person was mentally retarded or deaf before age 4.

The 1885 census is available online in a searchable database at Digitalarkivet of Norway. It include mainly the cities. See the following link:

http://digitalarkivet.arkivverket.no/en-gb/ft/sok/1885

The 1891 census is available in a scanned format at Digitalarkivet of Norway and is available online (not searchable, go page by page within a parish). See the following link:

http://digitalarkivet.arkivverket.no/finn_kilde?s=&fra=1891&til=1891&ka%5B%5D=0&kt%5B%5D=FOLK

The 1900 census is available on microfilm at the Family History Library as well as in a searchable database online at Digitalarkivet of Norway. http://digitalarkivet.arkivverket.no/en-gb/ft/sok/1900

The 1910 census is a searchable database available online at Digitalarkivet in Norway. See link: http://digitalarkivet.arkivverket.no/en-gb/ft/sok/1910

There are at the present time Municipal censuses for the cities of Hamar 1920, Kristiania (Oslo) 1923, and Trondheim 1925. These online searchable censuses may be accessed at the following link: http://digitalarkivet.arkivverket.no/en-gb/finn_kilde?s=&fra=&til=&kt%5B%5D=KFOT

These are the censuses available for Norway, but more may become available, as Digitalarkivet plans on putting all the Norwegian records online. Some are under privacy law, but as the law permits, more will eventually become available.
